SMALL CHANGE

More rain last Tuesday.

Gadsden shipped her first case of trawberries last Monday.

A young lady lost a hand-basket containing her portmonaie at the sitting room yesterday.

Rev. J. N. Hall, editor of the Baptist Glenner, preached at the Baptist church Thursday night.

Strawberries were somewhat damaged by the recent frost. The crop will be delayed in consequence.

County and local items of interest, as well as the latest general news, will be found on the eighth page. Some of our musical young friends have organized a new brass band here, and we have promise of lots of music after awhile. A good many vegetables and some fruit were killed by the recent frost, but the damage, we think, was not very serious. Parson Holt has one of the finest vegetable gardens we ever saw. He has now growing about thirty different kinds of vegetables. The Baptist Gleaner has again moved-this time to Benton, Ill. That paper itinerates as much as if it was a Methodist preacher.

We hear rumors of several marriages to come off soon here. Boys, come around and subscribe for the EXCHANGE, and begin right.

Rev. F. P. Flaniken preached to his congregation here Thursday night and will fill his pulpit again to-morrow night. We are glad to learn that his lame foot is improving.

A sleight of hand performance was given by a straggling showman at Jordan's Hall last Wednesday night. Very few attended, and some of them say it was a very poor show.

Two or three of our sports went out Monday last on a hunting excursion. One claimed to have winged a turkey, and another brought in one which was decapitated. We have not yet heard complaints from that neighborhood, but expect them soon.

A brilliant display of the "northern lights" -aurora borealis-was witnessed by some of our citizens last Sunday night, about half past ten o'clock. We understand some of our colored triends were considerably ex-Weather prophets say that it ixdicates more cold weather.

Gen. Peter Tracy has our thanks for an invitation to attend the pedestrian tournament in Memphis, beginning on the 24th inst. A race of one hundred and twenty three hours, for $3000, will come off between O'Leary, Dobler, Hart, Downey, Dale and Caustan. Reduced rates will be given on the railroads.

We have heretofore bragged on the substantial and elegant work done by the street committee, but we can't say a single brag word for the picayuue plank walk laid from the railroad to the Dickinson corner. We ought to have a walk there at least six feet wide, instead of the stringers. We do hope it will be laid yet, as this is the most public place in town.

The St. Louis Magazine for April is an especially good number. The fact that it has lived as a Representative Western Publication for 13 years is much in its favor. It is handsomely illustrated, full of good stories, poems and timely reading and contains besides an illustrated fashion article. For 10 cents the publishers will send a beautiful set of picture cards and sample copy of the Magazine to any address for inspection. Address St. Louis Magazine Company, 213 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

Two weeks ago we inserted a three line advertisement in our five-cent column-only publishing it once, and not referring to it elsewhere-calling for a milk cow. Since then we have had more responses than we can remember, and we now notify the public that we have a cow. We refer to this merely to convince our readers that the smallest and most obscure advertisement in a paper is read, and to intimate that it will pay every one to let the public know when he has any thing to sell, or when he wants to buy anything. Read the cheap column, as well as the others. You will find something new in it. The farewell sermon of the Rev. Dr. Lloyd last Sunday was heard by one of the largest congregations we have seen in a church here for a long time. His text was Ephesians vi. 14 17, from which he constructed an able gospel sermon, one which all who heard will do well to remember and profit by. Many of his hearers were edified and expressed their regret that he was called to leave our town. Rev. M. M. Taylor, pastor of the Methodist church, closed the service with a tender, earnest prayer for the future happiness and usefulness of the rever we indorse in a hearty amen.

The L. & N. pay train came in last Tuesday and staked the boys.

Is there any reason or good common sense in railroad engineers blowing such ear-piercing shricks of the whistle right in the heart of town? It does seem to us that it should be stopped.

It is rumored in Louisville that Mr. Albert Fink has been offered the Presidency of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, and has been nequested by President Baldwin to accept the place.

Mr. B. F. Stroud, general road master between Bowling Green and Memphis, was married to Mrs. Anna Bass ever since. A few weeks ago Tedro, in Paris, on the 19th., and is now receiving the congratulations of his army of friends along the line.

Demorest for May.

We welcome this monthly, well knowing that its contents will please and instruct. The illustrations in oil steel and wood are equal to its past excellence, and by many will be considered superior. "The Highland Breakfast" is a charming cabinet, "Duck and Green Peas," and "Phoebe Mayflower," are excellent. The twenty-seven articles comprised in its literary repertoire should please, entertain and instruct every class of readers. If you do not take this valuable adjunct to the household, send twenty cents for a copy to the publisher at 17 East 14th Street, N. Y.

Uncle Billie Moore

Will deliver a lecture at Jordan's Hall next Friday night, the 28th inst., on the most prominent evils of the day, including whiskey, tobacco and sheep-killing dogs. All who have heard him once will be sure to turn out and listen to him again if possible, for his lecture abounds with good, solid, hard sense, interspersed with quaint humor and funny anecdotes. The ladies are especially invited. Lecture free.

A MURDEROUS NEGRO

Poisons a Whole Family with "Rough on Pats" --- A Very Narrow Escape.

On last Friday morning John L. Fly, Esq., one of Gibson county's best citizens, came near losing his whole family as well as his own life, at his residence near Gibson. Soon after breakfast every member of the family, including the cook, were taken violently ill, with indications that they had been poisoned. Two physicians were called in and worked with them all day before they were brought again this side the danger line. Twelve persons were sick in one room at the same time, and for a while it was thought they could not recover; but, thanks to prompt and vigorous work of the physicians, they have all convalesced. On investigation it was found that a negro man named Henry Manning had been in the kitchen before any one else that morning, which aroused suspicion. He was arrested and in his possession was found a quantity of the above-named deadly poison. On trial before a magistrate the evidence developed against Manning was considered sufficient to send him to jail, where he now is. It is said that he was angry with a son of Mr. Fly, who had threatened to whip his (Manning's) child, and it is thought he was taking his revenge in this murderous manner. If he is really guilty, he should suffer the extreme penalty of the law.

A Hard Little Criminal.

Some six years ago Mr. John J Bass, who lives a few miles west of here, took a little waif from the county poor house, with the intention of giving him an education and making a man of him. The little fellow is named Eddie Hesse, the son of a widow, who was sent out from Humboldt to the poor house, dying shortly afterward. He was not more than five years old at that time, and of course has been an expense to Mr. he concluded to put the boy to work on his farm, as school was out, and he was now growing large enough to do light work. But it seems this did not suit the little rascal's ideas at all. As soon as Mr. Bass left home, Eddy stole eleven dollars from a wardrobe and skipped out. He was afterward heard of at Greenfield, where he stole two pistols and a knife, which were recovered from him. He then threatened to burn the town, which caused the people therr to hold him until Mr. Bass could go after him. He was carried back home, talked to kindly, but not whipped. But the devil appears to have taken possession of him, for he stole a lot of money and a thirty dollar watch from Mr. Bass last Sunday and left again. He went to Humboldt, came to Milan, then went to McKenzie, Dresden and Martin, where he was finally captured and brought here last Wednesday. He was carried from here to the Trenton jail, Mr. Bass declining to be further responsible for him. He is a small, bright fellow, but seems to be saturated with meanness. It will be a pity to send him to the peniten tiary, yet it is unsafe to allow him to run at large. The state needs a house of refuge in which to reform such bad boys. He said he had a good pistol in a box in Dresden, which he threatened to use on a man he was talking with here.

PERSONAL.

Senator Rankin spent last Sunday

Rev. J. L. Lloyd and family left Tuesday for Louisiana, going via Memphis.

In our announcement column will be found the name of Mr. James T. Newton, of the Eaton district, who is a candidate for Register. Mr. Newton is a gentleman of fine address and is fully competent to fill the office acceptably. Another point in his favor is, his district has no county officer and has had none in many years; therefore they put him forward as a representative man. We bespeak for him the careful consideration of our readers.

Dr. J. A. Arrington, of Jackson, one of the best dentists in the south, has been in our town several days this week, and our people have given him very little rest since he came. His rooms have been crowded with some of our best people, and he has done some excellent work. We are pleased to learn that the Doctor will in future put in about one week in each month in our town, thus giving our people an opportunity to have first-class dental work done

Jack F, Jones, our able and popular county Register, is announced this week as a candidate for re-election. It is unnecessary for us to say much in his favor here. All our people know him, and he received the heaviest vote here when elected that was ever cast for any man. He has introduced one great time-saving convenience in his office in the shape of a "double back action index," by the use of which any one can find any deed recorded on his books in a few moments. It is really a great improvement, for which he deserves
